Mars Class: Year 1/2

Changes within our Living Memory: The History of Yate.

Comparing Yate to an African town in Kenya.

What I should already know:

History is about the past that we can remember. History is about the past before we were born. Be able to talk about a memory of history from own life.

- EYFS Understanding the World- children will have looked at their family history and homes over time.
- Children have previously looked at Guy Fawkes and The Great Fire of London. Children have explored how London and Yate have developed over time. Children have studied Neil Armstrong and the 1969 moon landing. Children compared Neil Armstrong's space experience to that of Tim Peake.

History skills:

- Find answers to simple questions about the past from photos, artefacts and video clips.

What I will know by the end of the topic:

- Yate is a town in South Gloucestershire, surrounded by countryside. Yate is 1000 years old, in the past, it had 40 farms used to make dairy, corn and meat produce. Yate has developed into an industrial area. Will be able to look at maps of Yate at different ages and identify what has changed and stayed the same.
- Look at photographs of Yate railway and explore how it has developed. It used to transport people, coal, lime, building stone and livestock, but now it transports people along the mainline to Birmingham and beyond. Will explore the impact this had on the growth of Yate, and how cars impacted the railway.
- Explore photographs of Yate's Parnell factory and

What could I do at home:

- Explore a globe/atlas
- Make a safari scene
- Visit Yate heritage centre
- Talk to relatives about how Yate has changed in recent years
